

Pathways to Work Internship Application

Program description: AmeriHealth Caritas DC is a mission-driven organization dedicated to helping D.C. residents achieve health and wellness. Pathways to Work is a 14-week paid internship at our company in partnership with the YWCA to provide job tools, training, and services to D.C. residents. Participants in the program will gain practical work experience in the health care industry as well as nationally-recognized certification in either customer service or hospitality through the YWCA training program. Upon completing the internship, participants will receive 90 days of follow-up support to assist with job placement.

Eligibility for the program: Applicants must be current District of Columbia residents 18 years old or older. A high school diploma or GED equivalent is required. Households with two or more children under 18 are preferred. Applicants selected for the program must complete a background check and drug screening.

Application process: Applicants must submit the following documents to the Pathways to Work mailbox: the completed application form, a current resume, and one letter of recommendation from a previous employer or someone who can speak to your character. Only complete application packages will be reviewed. You will receive a confirmation email within 48 hours of submission.

If you have any questions regarding the application process or your application's status, please email us at pathwaystowork@amerihealthcaritas.com.
